Notes From Miss Kissel

What is going on in the classroom?

I just wanted to remind you that report cards come home today. Your child's report card should be in his or her weekly folder. Don't forget that you can see your child's grades at any time using the Parent Internet Viewer.

Here is what has been going on in the classroom. In religion, we have been learning about Moses and the Hebrews. We can learn a lot from them about having Faith in God!

In math, we are working on lessons 21-30. Our next test will be on Tuesday, November 17.

In science, we have been learning about earthquakes and volcanoes. Thank you for all of the help you provided your children in regards to the projects for this unit. Their presentations have been wonderful! For our next chapter, we will be learning about weathering and erosion. The students need to have a sample of soil from their house to school by Monday, November 16.

Finally, I wanted to let you know that this week, I have really been stressing our procedures with the students. This includes getting to class on time, having necessary materials, turning in work on time, and staying on task in class. The students seem to be getting a little lax with these procedures lately.

If you have any questions about anything in this newsletter, please let me know. Have a great weekend!

Comments, Questions, & Concerns

Conferences

Parent-teacher conferences will be held on Monday, November 23, and Tuesday, November, 24. Look for sign up sheets to be coming home soon for you to request your conference time. They will be attached to the school newsletter. Mrs. Hogan and I will be doing conferences together, so you only need to request one time. If you would like to meet with either of us individually, please indicate that on the sign up sheet.
